Blue Star Theatres and Boston Children's Theatre Present Event for Military Families Blue Star Theatres Now Includes Over 150 Theatres Nationwide

New York, NY – Theatre Communications Group (TCG), the national organization for theatre, and Blue Star Families, the country's largest chapter-based military families non-profit organization, are pleased to announce that 151 theatres in 35 states have now joined the Blue Star Theatres program. In a partnership between TCG and Blue Star Families, with leadership support from MetLife Foundation, Blue Star Theatres supports a variety of theatre offerings to military personnel and their families across the United States. This initiative recognizes the profound contributions of service families and seeks to build stronger connections between theatres, military families, and their communities through unique programming, special discounts, and more.

On Saturday, October 24th, a Blue Star Theatres event will be held from 3:30 – 5:30pm ET by Boston Children's Theatre (BCT) at The Calderwood Pavilion, 527 Tremont St, Boston MA. This event will include remarks by Kevin E. Moore, managing director, TCG; Toby Schine, executive director and producer, Boston Children's Theatre; and Andrea Bublitz, consultant, Blue Star Families and military spouse of 9 years, married to Captain Matthew Bublitz of the U.S. Air Force. This event for military families will include an interactive workshop featuring Mark Kimball Moulton's Halloween story Twisted Sisters. Children will play Halloween theatre games, read Mark Kimball Moulton's Twisted Sisters, and learn to act it out with friends and family. Learn more and RSVP for the event here.

"There are many ways in which our Blue Star Theatres give back to military families, but perhaps none more moving than programs geared toward their children," said Teresa Eyring, executive director, TCG. "When we witness the power of theatre through their eyes, we're reminded what our military personnel are fighting for, and why it's so important to honor their service."

According to Toby Schine, BCT Executive Director, being a part of the Blue Star Theatres program is an important way for Boston Children's Theatre to share the magic of theatre with an extended family. "We are so proud to be part of this tremendous program," said Schine. "As a children's theatre we are dedicated to providing children and their families access to theatre and the arts, and telling stories that are often a reflection of our community. We are looking forward to inviting military personnel and their families into our BCT family and to sharing our stories and experiences together."

"Programs like Blue Star Theatres connect our local military and civilian communities, and offer families fun and enriching activities to enjoy together," said Kathy Roth-Douquet, CEO, Blue Star Families. "We are excited about the growth of the program thanks to the generous support of the MetLife Foundation, and the contributions of TCG and the growing number of theatres across the country."

TCG and Blue Star Families connect theatres with local bases and military families, and develop and disseminate best practices for engaging with deployed personnel, veterans, and service families. The Blue Star Theatres grant program supports projects that can include talk-backs, outreach programs, sponsored tickets, performances, playwriting workshops, readings or workshops that focus on military themes and service, and more.
